

“I'm a UK born British Indian GP. I studied at Nottingham University. After medical school I completed GP training in Leeds, Yorkshire. I enjoy the breadth of problems we manage as general practitioners and how we contribute to the health and wellbeing of a community. I have previously lived and worked in Napier. I swiftly arranged to return to New Zealand and look forward to life in Christchurch”